
On March 28, 2019, the U.S. FDA announced the approval of the TNF inhibitor, certolizumab pegol (CIMZIA®) for the treatment for non-radiographic axial spondyloarthritis (nr-axSpA.) This is the first, and currently only biologic agent to gain approval for nr-axSpA in the U.S., providing those living with the condition access to a new class of medication.

Celebrate National Doctors' Day With SAA

March 30th is National Doctors' Day! This year you can honor your doctor with a donation to SAA and we will send a card on your behalf. Simply add a testimonial and contact information for your doctor and we'll do the rest! This is a special day set aside to honor the contributions of physicians who serve our country by caring for its citizens. Please take a moment to recognize a physician who has made a difference in your life with a donation to SAA.
SAA’s Helpful Hints: Community Wisdom - Medical Professionals

Helpful Hints is a recurring feature, aimed at sharing our community’s knowledge and experiences. In this installment, we asked our online community, “Which medical professional has the most impact on managing your spondylitis symptoms? Rheumatologist, Primary Care Physician, Osteopathic Physician, Functional Medicine, Physical Therapist, Pain Management Specialist, or Psychologist?”

It takes the work of many professionals to help guide and treat patients, as the below responses show....

Tips For Sleeping Better With Spondyloarthritis

As someone suffering from spondyloarthritis, you know just how exhausting it can be to get into a comfortable position at night. Then, when you finally do find something that allows you to rest, pain and stiffness can shake you back awake in the middle of the night.

In this article we share tips for a better night’s sleep that we hope will be helpful!
Your Stories: The Bully

We all have a Bully in our lives, whether it be a physical person or in the form of pain or anguish, but we all have one. Since childhood my Bully has taken on many forms and I have overcome them one way or the other, but my current Bully is relentless and today I am going to share him with you. See, my Bully does not come in a form of a person but a condition. I have Spondyloarthritis.

Pill Take Back Event

On Saturday, April 27, from 10 am to 2 pm, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration will be hosting their 17th National Pill Take Back Event alongside local community members and organizations. The best part is that the service is free and anonymous and allows for the public to drop off unused medications with no questions asked.
